while lists undeniably serve a purpose for most people i may harbor an almost irrational compulsion to jot down even the most trivial details of my future present or sometimes even past life perhaps it is a testament to the inherent usefulness of lists even for those who do not readily recognize them as indispensable tools particularly for those who prefer to keep their minds uncluttered my journey with lists began in the form of handwritten notes during my middle school years evolving in several forms they passed through several digital platforms until they reached the refined state they occupy today at the time of this writing they reside as plain text documents and are accessible on virtually every digital device i interact with daily in my last writing i focused primarily on daily tasks and how one can organize their life to work on those tasks without losing sanity as lists planning and productivity are very closely interconnected i wrote this book as a follow up to my first one with a more generic look at how i think one can utilize lists in their day to day life corpus linguistics has become one of the most widely used methodologies across the different linguistic subdisciplines especially the study of world wide varieties of english uses corpus based investigations as one of the chief methodologies this volume comprises descriptions of the many new corpus initiatives both within and outside africa that aim to compile various corpora of african englishes moreover it contains cutting edge corpus based research on african englishes and the use of corpora in pedagogic contexts within african institutions this volume thus serves both as a practical introduction to corpus compilation part i of the book corpus based research part ii and the application of corpora in language teaching part iii and is intended both for those researchers not yet familiar with corpus linguistics and as a reference work for all international researchers investigating the linguistic properties of african englishes
